Allowable Subject Matter

This action is in response to the request for reconsideration filed on 8/30/2005.

As per applicant's request claims 1-11 and 26-41 have been considered.

Based on applicant's arguments and providing key concepts of the invention claims 1-11 and 26-41 have been considered and found persuasive, therefore, claims 1-11 and 26-41 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The cited prior art taken alone or in combination does not suggest the claimed invention of cross-platform software development system includes a computing device that generates an image of an operating system, and a software development peripheral connected to the computing device that executes the operating system corresponding to the image and generating test information by the operating system. Therefore, claimed invention improves the cross-platform development process involving developing software, such as operating systems or application programs, such that the software operates with computers having different central processing units (CPUs) from one central processor unit type to another and allows software developers to configure, build, and debug new software applications and operating systems.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
